

WHY CHOOSE HOOPS EDUCATION?

David Adelman has run Hoops Education Basketball Camps and Basketball Programs in six different states. He was a college basketball assistant for nine years at the Division I and III level and was the professional coach and general manager for two seasons in the USBL. Play Hard Hoops Camps combine instruction, skill-inspired contests and game play for boys and girls. Adelman specializes in tailoring his basketball instruction for kids from beginner to advanced levels and divides camps into age and skill appropriate groups.

HOOPS EDUCATION BASKETBALL CAMP with DAVID ADELMAN

ACTIVITY #494015

GRADES: 1st - 8th Grade Boys & Girls

DESCRIPTION: Co-ed camp dedicated to teaching the game of basketball while stressing sportsmanship, teamwork, enthusiasm, and a positive attitude on and off the court. The goal is to have a great time regardless of ability while learning skills and fundamentals to be a good player. Camp consists of stations, contests, game play, and the ability to learn from coaches with college and pro experience.

"My son had played only a very short season with his school, only to find he couldn't keep up with the play, and was feeling very inferior about his athletic ability. After a week at your camp, he came out of it with a teamwork award, a citizenship award, an absolute LOVE for basketball, but most importantly confidence in himself. Your no tolerance policy for bad sportsmanship allowed my children to feel free to try anything and work hard with no fear of teasing or nasty comment."
